PART 1 — WHO WE ARE

Welcome to JewelPetal.

Hi. Welcome to the team.

JewelPetal is a premium handcrafted gifting brand from India. We make jewelry and fashion accessory gift bouquets — arrangements that replace temporary flowers with wearable, lasting beauty. Every bouquet is hand-styled with real anti-tarnish jewelry, velvet hair accessories, satin ribbons, and beauty items, wrapped in premium linen and delivered in coordinated packaging.

We exist because flowers die in three days. We make things that last.

This document tells you everything you need to know to operate JewelPetal: what the brand is, what it looks like, what it sounds like, how it is built online, and exactly how each of us contributes to making it work.

The Brand in Seven Lines

- Name: JewelPetal. Always capitalised exactly this way. Never JEWELPETAL. Never jewelpetal.
- Tagline: The bouquet she actually keeps.
- What we make: Handcrafted jewelry and fashion accessory gift bouquets. Four permanent collections, with seasonal and custom extensions.
- Who we are for: The woman who wants to give a gift that says something. The girl who is tired of flowers. The buyer who wants something Indian, premium, and personal.
- What we are not: A flower shop. A craft market brand. A generic gifting company. Never use the word 'cheap' or 'affordable' in any brand-facing copy.
- The benchmarks: Forest Essentials (Indian luxury done right), Chumbak (Indian brand with a voice), Anita Dongre (handmade with prestige). Study these before you make anything.
- The one rule: Everything we make should feel chosen, not just purchased.

The Collection Model

JewelPetal has four permanent collections. These are not limited drops — they are the core catalogue, refined over time.

COLLECTION	PRICE	WHAT IT CONTAINS
Mini Jewelry Bouquet	■150 – ■250	1–5 handcrafted jewelry items. For bulk gifting, corporate orders, and light tokens of af
Standard 7-Item Bouquet	■599	7 hand-rolled premium jewelry items: earrings, necklaces, bracelets, hair claws. Botani
Standard 9-Item Bouquet	■699	9 premium jewelry and hair styling pieces. Coordinated pastel linen wrapping layers.
Premium Custom Bouquet	From ■999	10+ premium elements. Fully customisable. Add chocolates, photographs, hand-knit cr

The JewelPetal Voice — Memorise This

Before you write a single caption, a single product description, or a single WhatsApp message to a customer — understand the voice. It governs everything.

Warm, personal, confident. The friend who has great taste and shares it generously. Never salesy. Never corporate. Never try-hard.

WE ALWAYS	WE NEVER
Write like we are talking to one specific person.	Use exclamation marks. Ever.
Lead with the feeling, not the product.	Say 'shop now' or 'buy now' in captions.
Mention what it feels like to give and receive it.	Use the word 'affordable' or 'cheap'.
Use warm, specific language. 'Dainty gold hoops' not 'earrings'.	Say 'luxury' — we show it, we never say it.
Keep captions to 2–4 lines maximum.	Explain the sentiment. If it needs explaining, rewrite it.
End with stillness — not a call to action.	Tag suppliers or vendors in public-facing posts.

PART 2 — THE VISUAL WORLD

The Aesthetic Reference

JewelPetal's visual world is: natural-light studio flatlay. Warm. Linen-textured. Premium but accessible. Every image should feel like it was styled by someone with taste in her own home — not shot in a commercial studio.

Reference brands for visual direction: &Other Stories, Mejuri, Anita Dongre gifting campaigns, early Chumbak editorial. Study their product photography before shooting anything.

Energy 1 — Natural Light Studio Flatlay

The primary aesthetic for all product photography. Pale linen or cotton surface. Warm directional window light from the left or top-left. Objects placed with breathing room — never crowded. Soft shadows. Warm tones. This is the setting for all four collections on the website and Instagram feed.

Energy 2 — The Gift Moment

The bouquet in someone's hands. A gift being unwrapped. The reaction. These are the most shareable images — they capture emotion, not just product. Shot candidly. Warm indoor light. Slightly soft focus on the background. The bouquet is always sharp.

Energy 3 — Close Detail

Extreme close-up of individual jewelry pieces, ribbon textures, linen wrapping layers. This content communicates craft and quality. One detail per frame. The entire image breathes around it.

Energy 4 — Occasion Context

The bouquet placed in a birthday setup, a wedding flat lay, a desk gifting moment. The product lives in a real life context. Pastel tones. Never cluttered. The bouquet is always the hero of the frame.

The Colour System — Non-Negotiable

COLOUR	HEX	HOW IT IS USED
JewelPetal Pearl	#FAF8F5	The base of everything. Every copy card. Every designed graphic. Every photography surface. NEVER used as a full background.
JewelPetal Deep	#2A1A1F	All primary headings and typography on designed cards. Never used as a full background.
JewelPetal Rosegold	#C49A6C	The brand accent. CTAs, labels, ribbon highlights. The defining colour of the brand. Use with restraint.
JewelPetal Blush	#F2E8E4	Secondary backgrounds, card fills, linen wrapping colour reference.
JewelPetal Sage	#8FAB87	Botanical accent. Appears as leaf detail, greenery in arrangements. Never dominant.
JewelPetal Lavender	#C4B5CC	Surprise colour. Use once every 5–6 posts. When it appears, it lands.

The Visual Rules That Never Break

- ✓ Warm light. Always directional. Never flat. Never ring light on product.
- ✓ Negative space. Bouquets breathe. At least a third of every image is background.
- ✓ One hero per image. Not the bouquet AND the card AND the packaging. One thing.

- ✓ Linen, cotton, or marble surfaces only. No plastic, no synthetic textures.
- ✓ Every image should look like it belongs in a gifting editorial magazine.
- ✗ No white backgrounds in Instagram content. JewelPetal Pearl only. White is for product e-commerce shots only.
- ✗ No graphic drop shadows. No gradients. No modern digital effects.
- ✗ No crowded frames. If more than two props appear, remove one.
- ✗ No harsh flash photography. Ever.
- ✗ No filters that shift the colour away from warm. Cooler tones kill the brand.

PART 3 — ARYAN'S ROLE

Technical Head, Website & Digital Infrastructure

Aryan — you are the technical backbone of JewelPetal's digital presence. You built the storefront, you manage the infrastructure, and you are responsible for ensuring that every customer who lands on the website has a flawless, premium experience. Everything on the digital side goes through you.

Your Primary Responsibilities

AREA	WHAT THIS MEANS
Storefront (jewelpetal.in)	Own the full React + Vite codebase. All UI changes, new pages, feature additions, and bug fixes are your domain. T

Performance & Analytics	Monitor PostHog for user behaviour patterns. Flag any page with high bounce rates to Nancy. Monthly performance
GitHub & Deployment	All code lives in the GitHub repository. Every change goes through a commit with a clear message. The GitHub Act
Contact Form & Newsletter	Formspree and the newsletter subscription endpoint are maintained by you. If a customer's message fails to send, i
Environment & Keys	All API keys and environment variables are in the secure .env file. Never commit keys to the repository. Rotate any

The Tech Stack You Own

LAYER	TECHNOLOGY	YOUR ROLE
Frontend Framework	React 18 + TypeScript	Full ownership. You wrote it, you maintain it.
Build Tool	Vite 5 (SWC)	Build config, optimisation, chunk strategy.
Styling	Tailwind CSS + Custom Design Tokens	All design token updates go through you.
Routing	React Router DOM v6	All new pages require a new route.
State	Zustand (cart + auth)	Cart logic and any future auth flows.
SEO	React Helmet Async + JSON-LD	Per-page meta tags on every new page.
Analytics	PostHog + Vercel Analytics	Event tracking setup for new features.
Hosting	GitHub Pages (GitHub Actions)	Deploy pipeline. Zero downtime target.

Image & Asset Standards

Every product image must meet these specifications before going live on the website:

- Format: PNG (current) or WebP (preferred for production launch).
- Minimum resolution: 1200 × 1200px for square product images.
- Background: JewelPetal Pearl (#FAF8F5) or transparent. Never pure white.
- Naming convention: product-[collection-slug]-[variant].png e.g. product-std-7-rosegold.png
- File size: Under 300KB per image for web. Use squoosh.app to compress if needed.

- Alt text: Written by Nancy. Implemented by Aryan in the product data file.

PART 4 — NANCY & ISHITA'S ROLES

Nancy Gupta — Co-Founder, Creative Director & Product Lead

Nancy — you are the creative and commercial heart of JewelPetal. Every product, every caption, every customer message, every business decision originates with you. Ishita executes operations. Aryan executes the digital world. But the brand's soul is yours.

AREA	WHAT THIS MEANS
Product Curation	You select every jewelry piece, hair accessory, and beauty item that goes into every bouquet. Quality check on eve

The Non-Negotiable Rules for All Three

Nothing goes public without Nancy's approval. Not a single post, product listing, or customer message.

- ✓ Every product goes live on the website only after Nancy has approved the image AND the description.
- ✓ Every Instagram post, Story, and Reel is approved by Nancy before it is scheduled or posted.
- ✓ Every customer quote and custom order confirmation is sent by Nancy or reviewed by Nancy before Ishita sends it.
- ✓ Every code deployment to the live website is tested by Aryan on a local build first. No untested changes go live.
- ✓ Respond to Nancy on WhatsApp within 30 minutes during working hours.

- ✗ Ishita does not quote prices or confirm custom orders without Nancy's input.
- ✗ Aryan does not change product descriptions, prices, or brand copy without Nancy's written approval.
- ✗ No vendor, supplier, or logistics partner is communicated with publicly on behalf of JewelPetal without Nancy's knowledge.
- ✗ No discounts, offers, or promotional pricing without Nancy's explicit decision.

The goal is simple: when the first customer opens her JewelPetal bouquet, she should feel that someone with real taste made something just for her. Every decision we make before that moment — every photograph, every caption, every ribbon tied — builds toward that feeling.
